© NHS Confederation 2017. The view in this document is that of the author and does not necessarily reflect the views and policies of the NHS Confederation. The NHS Confederation is a registered charity No: 1090329 and a company No: 04358614.
The NHS Confederation is the only membership body that brings together and speaks on behalf of all organisations that plan, commission and provide NHS services. The breadth of our membership sets us apart. Drawn from across the health and care systems in England, Wales and Northern Ireland, our members include:

- acute and foundation trusts
- academic health science networks
- ambulance trusts
- clinical commissioning groups
- commissioning support units
- community health services providers
- mental health and learning disability providers
- independent providers of NHS services.

We work on behalf of our members to address current challenges and find sustainable solutions for the future. We do this in three ways:

- By providing an authoritative voice on and for the health and social care sector.
- By representing members at the highest levels and influencing the big issues affecting health and care services.
- By supporting members to improve patient care and transform services.

Our work is driven by our vision of an empowered, healthy population supported by world-class health and care services.

Our priorities

The need for the whole system to come together has never been more acute.

Rising demand for care, constrained funding, a fast-paced transformation agenda and a workforce stretched to its limits are placing pressures on services like never before.

To support our members, we focus on the big issues affecting them, striving to achieve a step change on issues including:

- funding
- mental health
- social care
- the potential impact of leaving the EU
- transformation
- workforce

By speaking truth to power, influencing policy and providing practical products and services, we help our members to achieve their ambitions.
